It was reported three miles from town last Tuesday that there were three dead cholera bodies in Pulaski. We intend to take out a search warrant and hunt for these corpuses, and if we can't find them the originator of this yarn will have to ask our pardon for putting us to the necessity of saying he lied.

Rev. Dr. Stochlard came to this place last Saturday to preach the next day at the Presbyterian Church, but was attacked with cholera morbus the evening of his arrival and was not able to fill the appointment. He had a very serious attack and is quite feeble yet, but we are glad to hear is convalescent.

Several of our young men, and some of our old ones, went to Elkmont Springs to attend a ball Tuesday night. They balled all night, we suppose, for the sleeping room down there has all bean chartered; but it will not discommode the old men of the party, for they have heard things bawl all night before.
